

Washington County Lifestyle Change Network

Connecting people to community resources that support healthy living

About Us

Partners of the Washington County Lifestyle Change Network (LCN) are dedicated to helping local residents prevent and manage chronic health conditions. We believe in a patient-centered medical neighborhood where hospitals, physicians, and community organizations work together to help patients live well.

Through the Lifestyle Change Network, patients are referred from the hospital and physician offices to the most appropriate community resources that can help those patients achieve better health. The community resource partners then relay any important health updates back to the primary care physicians, so they are aware of any change in their patients' health status. This process creates a referral and feedback loop that supports improved health for local residents in the communities where they live and work.

The community resource partners of the Lifestyle Change Network can support community health with:

- Programs that can help you reduce your risk of disease
- Programs that can help you manage disease symptoms
- Programs that can help you lose weight
- Programs that can help you choose, prepare, and eat foods that promote health
- Programs that can help you increase your current level of physical activity
- Programs that can help you quit using tobacco
- Groups which offer social support and allow you and others to share information, barriers, and successes on your path to better health

Finding a Primary Care Provider

Regularly visiting a Primary Care Provider (PCP) is beneficial for health and wellness. Patients with a PCP have better management of chronic diseases, lower overall health care costs, and a higher level of satisfaction with their care.

PCPs help to coordinate patient care all in one place. By developing a relationship with a PCP, you are ensuring that other medical staff within the practice also know your medical history. This health care team can better detect patterns in your health and recommend lifestyle changes to prevent future complications requiring expensive specialty care.

If you do not have a Primary Care Provider (PCP) and would like to connect with one, please visit:

www.mhsystem.org and click Find a Provider, or call the Memorial Health System Physician Referral Line at 740-568-5241.
